SMALL NATIONS OF EUROPE OPPOSED TO TAKING TERRITORY

NETHERLANDS, SWEDEN AND BELGIUM BACK ENGLAND IN LEAGUE COVENANT

By WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff.)
GENEVA, Sept. 12.—(AP)—New suggestions, said to concern a concrete form of collective assistance for Ethiopia, were made today by the Italo-Ethiopian sub-committee of the League of Nations.

The committee, composed of Great Britain, France, Spain, Poland and Turkey, was instructed by the league council to attempt to find a solution of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

Representatives of the "big five" met today and instructed their African experts to examine a new series of suggestions which the committee members were believed to think would serve as a basis for a concrete plan of settlement.

A reliable source stated that the present intention of the committee is to present this plan to Italy and Ethiopia when and if it is worked out as a definite project.

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A group of Europe's most powerful small nations came out unequivocally in the League of Nations assembly today against the employment of force as a means of acquiring the territory of others.

Statesmen of the Netherlands, Belgium and Sweden—the last understood to represent all the Scandinavian countries—pledged their nations' loyal support to the League of Nations covenant, thereby backing the British policy pronounced yesterday by Sir Samuel Hoare, Great Britain's foreign secretary.

Support of the league, in the face of the threatened invasion of Ethiopia by Italy, was pledged by Jonkheer A. C. DeGraeff, foreign minister of the Netherlands; Premier Paul Van Zeeland of Belgium, and by Richard Sandler, foreign minister of Sweden.

Force was added to Sandler's declaration by the fact that he came here almost directly from a conference with the foreign ministers of Norway and Denmark.

It was reported without confirmation that the Scandinavian statesmen would recommend their governments resign from the League of Nations if the league fails to make good in this Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Belgium to Go Limit.
Premier Van Zeeland told the assembly Belgium "had decided to go the limit" in taking part.

SISTER OF LONG'S SLAYER SAYS FAMILY KNOWS NOTHING

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. A. C. Broussard, sister of Carl Austin Weiss, Jr., Huey Long's assassin, said today she knew "nothing, absolutely nothing" of a charge that her brother had drawn lots, and lost, to determine who should eliminate the Louisiana political dictator.

The charge was made by Earl Christenberry, Senator Long's secretary.

"We are as much in the dark as we ever were," Mrs. Broussard said.

The family of the spectacular, serious-minded Baton Rouge eye and ear specialist, who, after shooting Long, was mowed down by Long's bodyguards, could give no explanation of his act.

Senator Redditt Acting Governor; Names His Staff

AUSTIN, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Senator John S. Redditt of Lufkin, president pro tempore of the senate, became acting governor today in the absence from the state of Governor Allred and Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul of Houston.

Allred was in Oklahoma City attending a conference on the interstate oil compact and Woodul was in New Orleans.

Redditt was the fifth governor this year. Allred succeeded Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson on Jan. 15 and later when he went to Washington and Senator Ken Regan of Peecos, then president pro tempore, served as acting governor.

Redditt's first official act was to grant a requisition of the governor of Oklahoma for Robert Martin, alias George Martin, charged with burglary. Previously he had passed out cigars and had his photograph made.

He appointed 12 lieutenant-colonels on his staff as follows:

E. T. Clark and T. E. Huffman of Lufkin, E. C. Durham of Diboll, W. T. McNeill of Beaumont, Hobart Price, J. Hardy Neel and H. A. Bateman of Dallas, Morris Scieszka of Austin, J. J. Strickland, Harold Kayton and Maxey Hart of San Antonio, and L. L. Bishop of Houston.

LAWSON LITTLE IS STILL IN RUNNING FOR U. S. AMATEUR

LONG-HITTING CALIFORNIAN RALLIES AFTER SOME ERATIC GOLF THURSDAY

THE COUNTRY CLUB, Cleveland, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Rallying again as he weathered his most erratic streak of golf thus far in the tournament, W. Lawson Little, Jr., the California "Sledge Gun," went into the quarter finals of the United States Amateur Golf championship today by trouncing his fifth straight opponent, Warrington (Duff) McCullough, Jr., Philadelphia, 5 and 3.

Little gave his followers some alarm at the outset. He started shakily, was two down to McCullough through the seventh, and showing distinct signs of irritation. For the first time in the tournament the champion failed to equal or better par for the out-going nine but he won the eighth and ninth to square the match and then put on a characteristic sub-par finish.

The Californian, rapidly approaching his fourth straight win in national amateur play, shot the last six holes in three under par. He won five of them, getting birdies on the 10th, 12th and 15th, with putts of six, 30 and 18 feet. The finish was spectacular. Little ran down his long putt for a birdie to win after McCullough had holed a 25 footer for a par.

Two Under Par.
For the 15 holes played, Little was two under par, but the main scoring fireworks were exploded by Oklahoma's Walter Emery, formerly of National Intercollegiate king, Emery shot the out going nine in

DIMINUTIVE AVIATRIX HOPPED OFF IN NON-STOP EFFORT EARLY TODAY

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 12.—(AP)—Frank Speakman, Albuquerque airport manager, said he saw a plane he thought to be the diminutive West-East transcontinental record of Amelia Earhart. The diminutive aviatrix, who recently made the first non-stop flight from New York to Los Angeles, was determined to reach New York in less than 17 hours, 7 minutes, 30 seconds—the time made by Miss Earhart.

Miss Ingalls plane took off at 5:44 a. m. (Pacific time). "I hope to make it to New York in 14 or 15 hours," Miss Ingalls said, "but if I can hold an average of 220 miles an hour speed, I'll be there in around 13 hours."

PARIS STOCKMAN DIED FOLLOWING FRACTURE SKULL

INTERFERENCE IN FAMILY QUARREL BELIEVED CAUSE OF FATAL AFFRAY

PORT WORTH, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Detectives concluded today that Sherman Durant Davis' interference in a family quarrel brought about the fatal fight which resulted yesterday in his death in a Port Worth hospital.

A 26-year-old man who fought with Davis on Monday night is thought to be in the Louisiana oil field and his father has left Port Worth in search of him.

Officers believe he will voluntarily return when he learns of Davis' death.

Davis, 34, a stockman of Paris, Texas, died of a fractured skull soon after he became ill in his north side hotel room Wednesday. At first he was not thought to be seriously injured in the fight.

City Detective Howerton, summing up the case as follows:

Davis was riding in the rear seat of an automobile Monday night with a man and his wife. The couple began to quarrel and Davis attempted to act as mediator. This started an argument. The two men went behind a church in Rosen Heights. One of them returned a few minutes later with

Pope Says Time Ripe For Use Of Kellogg Pact

GENEVA, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Senator Pope of Idaho said today it was his firm personal conviction that "the time has come to utilize the Kellogg pact to prevent aggressive warfare."

"It seems to me," said the Senator, who is here as an unofficial observer of League of Nations proceedings, "that the biggest factor with which an aggressor has to deal is public opinion."

"It would be comparatively simple to put teeth in the (Kellogg) pact by using it as a basis on which to outlaw governments resorting to aggressive warfare."

Pope said he had communicated his ideas to Secretary of State Hull, "for such consideration as he may be able to give the suggestions."

HYDE PARK, Sept. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt remapped his gigantic works relief program today to meet declared recovery conditions at a conference with his principal lieutenants.

All chiefs, including the two opponents—Secretary Ickes, public works administrator, and Harry L. Hopkins, work progress administrator—were called about the Roosevelt conference table.

The president was ready to state the prime necessity just now is making jobs quickly through the four billion dollar fund with the constant idea of turning over workers to private industry as business picks up.

Therefore, it looked today like Hopkins, advocate of temporary work, had the edge over Secretary Ickes, champion of permanent public works.

Mr. Roosevelt had told newspapermen he prefers to see permanent public improvements but

REINFORCEMENTS FOR GARRISONS AT MALTA ORDERED TO EMBARK

AUGMENTED MEDITERRANEAN FLEET STRUNG OUT AROUND SUEZ ENTRANCE

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Great Britain is rushing additional troops to reinforce its garrisons at Malta, strategic post in the Mediterranean, a high source disclosed today.

Three battalions stationed at Caterick, England, are being sent to the tiny island which has already become the focal point of Britain's Mediterranean defense plans.

A British battalion normally is composed of four companies of 250 men each.

The units ordered to embark are the Lincolnshire regiment, the South Wales borderers and the king's own Scottish borderers.

The authority which disclosed the troop movements pointed out that the Malta infantry garrison has been undermanned since 1929, when troops were sent from Malta to Palestine.

The authorized establishment of the regular army for Malta is given for 1934 as 3,276 men.

Troops understood to number more than 1,200 arrived at Malta yesterday from England.

If the three battalions ordered to sail today go out in full strength, the island will be garrisoned by more than the so-called "authorized establishment."

Malta, and the surrounding Mediterranean area have already been the scene of extraordinary activity.

LONG'S ADHERENTS DECLARE CONSPIRACY BEHIND HIS SLAYING

FRIENDS AND FOES DRAW BATTLE LINES AS DEAD DICTATOR BURIED THURSDAY

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 12.—Thousands paid silent tribute today to Senator Huey P. Long, slain ruler of his Louisiana empire, as one source indicated Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia might be invited by Long "Share-the-Wealth" clubs to run for President in 1936.

The Griffin, Ga., Daily News in a special dispatch from Cecil Hurst, associate editor of the paper in Louisiana on a vacation, said:

"Talking to certain 'Share-the-Wealth' club leaders I was told now that Senator Long, the greatest champion of the people is dead, Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia will probably be invited by our organization to run for president in 1936."

Governor Talmadge was en route from Atlanta to Chattanooga, to deliver an address and could not be reached immediately for comment.

Following the expressed conviction of Earl Chestnutberry, the late senator's secretary, that Dr. Carl Weiss, Jr., who shot the senator Sunday night, had been chosen by "lot" for the assassination, the district attorney promised a thorough investigation.

Ask Congressional Probe.
The Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, national organizer for the "Share-the-Wealth clubs" chosen to deliver the funeral oration at services being held this afternoon at 4 p. m. Central Standard time, called for a congressional investigation.

Mr. Smith said last night he believed disclosure of the motive behind the assassination would "shake the nation."

The great influx of outsiders for the funeral of the senator created a traffic jam in the city's business district. The Statehouse

GERMANY TO LOSE TARIFF REDUCTIONS ON OCTOBER 15TH

SECRETARY OF STATE HULL ISSUES NOTICE HIGHEST DUTY RATES TO PREVAIL

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Germany on October 15 will lose all tariff reductions granted by the United States in reciprocal trade pacts, official sources made known today, because of asserted persistent and flagrant discriminations against American imports.

The termination of tariff benefits, attributed to the state department, was interpreted as instituting a new policy in American foreign trade.

Secretary Hull, it was learned authoritatively, has notified Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, that after Oct. 15 all German imports into the United States must pay the highest prevailing duty rates.

By that action, this country establishes for the first time in many years a two column tariff schedule, one with normal rates for countries which grant equality of treatment for American goods, and another higher schedule for those which do not.

Hitler Orders Reichstag Meet To Hear Speech

ACTRESS IS FOUND SLAIN AND SCION OF OIL FAMILY IS HELD

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today called the Reichstag (parliament) to meet Sunday in Nurnberg, where he is at present, "to hear a declaration from the government."

Nazi headquarters at Nurnberg declined to indicate what Hitler's declaration would be.

A foreign office spokesman stated: "The Reichstag meeting during the (Nazi) party convention and in the convention city is further testimony that the party and the state are identical."

The call to the Reichstag session was issued suddenly from Berlin this morning. Practically all the invitations went to Nurnberg where the bulk of deputies are attending the Nazi party convention.

Foreign office sources said the foreign policy and economic matters would be the principal subjects of Der Fuehrer's speech.

It was said that Hitler may touch on the League of Nations negotiations concerning Ethiopia. Fears are being expressed here that these negotiations are drawing Great Britain nearer to France at Germany's expense.

EVELYN HOEY FOUND SHOT TO DEATH IN FARM HOME OF HENRY H. ROGERS, JR.

By FRANCIS A. JAMIESON
(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press.)
DOWNTOWN, Pa., Sept. 12.—The honey-haired, blue-eyed little Evelyn Hoey, singer of torch songs to Broadway, Paris and London, was found shot to death early today on the floor of a bedroom of the country place of Henry Huddleston Rogers, Jr.

At her feet lay a pistol. On the bed was another. And in a corner of the room, leaning against the wall, was a sawed off shotgun.

Rogers, 29-year-old son and namesake of the late Standard Oil multimillionaire who died last July, was brought to jail here for questioning and was held on a technical charge of suspicion of murder. With him was held a material witness, was William J. Kelly of Union City, N. J.

Both Rogers and Kelly said the girl had killed herself after a violent quarrel with Rogers. She had been a house guest for about a week.

"Lending weight to the suicide theory was the statement of Clyde Battin, a farmer employed by Rogers, who was in the house. He said that Rogers and Kelly never left the couch in the living room until after they heard the shot upstairs."

Consider Chauffeur's Remark.
On the other hand the authorities considered the following remark of the chauffeur, Frank Catano, made in answer to a question: "I don't see how she could have shot herself. Still I can't express my opinion because I don't know."

Both Catano and the neighborhood farmer, Battin, said Miss Hoey was right-handed—an important matter in consideration of how the girl met death.

The story of what happened at the farm house, located at Lyndell, a tiny community on Brandywine creek about 25 miles west of Philadelphia, was pieced together today by officers here, they had questioned Rogers, Kelly and several bystanders at the place.

There had been a drinking party at the farm, they were told. Unfinished glasses of liquor, bottles of soda, ginger ale, beer, and bowls of melting ice were still standing about when officers reached the place about midnight.

Woman Became Angered.
Miss Hoey, who popularized the song "What Is This Thing Called Love?" in New York night clubs and who more recently introduced "April in Paris," became angered

TEXAS CONGRESSMAN SAYS NAVAL OFFICERS INTERFERE WITH GOVERNMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Questioning its efficiency and accusing it of "meddling" in internal and foreign affairs, Rep. Maverick (D-Tex.) wants a congressional investigation of the navy.

The Texan, himself a world war veteran, put forward his demand for an eight-point inquiry in the final edition of the congressional record—just released.

"As a congressman," he said, "I am willing to give our army of defense adequate appropriations for that purpose. I am willing to help them in their morale, in their efficiency and in their discipline. I am, however, unwilling to make huge appropriations and permit the efficiency of our fighting arms to go down, nor to let the military run the civilian population, meddling in internal affairs and stick their noses in foreign affairs."

An investigation, Maverick said,

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A report asserting the Lone Star Gas corporation and subsidiaries of Texas claimed $11,528,516 more in depreciation charges in its income tax returns for 1927-33 inclusive than was written on the company's books was recorded today at a trade commission hearing.

The report, prepared by the commission's investigators, also said that as of December 31, 1934, the system's consolidated fixed capital of $142,547,107 "contained a total depreciation or write-up aggregating $55,078,194."

Referring to the "usual method of handling depreciation and depletion of fixed properties," the report said "that for federal income tax purposes the system claims a total of $24,651,517.98 accrued depreciation and depletion during the years 1927 to 1933, inclusive, while only $18,723,001.25 was recorded on the books of the underlying companies to cover such accruals."

BOY AND YOUTH SHOT TO DEATH AS POLICE AND PICKETS CLASH

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 12.—(AP)—Guns blazing through a tear gas laden area left two persons dead today and 30 others injured seriously enough to require hospital treatment after the third successive night of disorder in connection with an iron workers' strike with an iron workers' strike.

A crowd estimated by the police at 4,000 milling men, women and children fled to cover last night and early today after the authorities were obliged to use tear gas to restore order.

The Flour City Ornamental Iron works was the scene of the disorders. A strike has been in progress there with strikers demanding, among other things, recognition of their union as a bargaining agency and higher wages.

Pelting rocks that smashed windows suddenly converted into a scene of violence what shortly before had started out as peaceful picketing.

In subsequent gunfire and gas barrage, Eugene Casper, 18, was killed with a pistol bullet through his heart. Melvin Bjorklund, 21, was the other fatality. He had just escorted a young woman home from a church social, when Park, where the senator will be buried, is the north boundary. Flags of state officials hung at half staff. The city appeared to be beginning to comprehend that which had been so difficult for it to realize—that the man whose seven-year power regime it had witnessed in history-making turbulence really was dead.

Long's friends, in Baton Rouge and the parish, both of which were politically opposed to him to the last, eulogized him. Foes said they were sorry he was killed because they felt the proper way to eliminate him from state politics was at the polls.

Long Line Mourners. Notables of the state and nation, as well as humble citizens, some dressed in working clothes, swarmed the funeral, to be open to the public. At 3 o'clock the great crowd passing the bier of Senator Long extended single file a quarter of a mile in length and was growing.

Although Governor O. K. Allen titular head of Long's powerful machine, is pledged to carry on the doctrines of the dictator, the man who is running things for the state administration is Seymour Weiss, one of the senator's closest aides and companions.

Weiss, president of the New Orleans dock board, is issuing the orders keeping the administration machine in fold. He is taking the lead in making decisions, attending to details and generally directing the senator's funeral.

However, there was uncertainty whether his present leadership would extend to domination of the machine's political policies. There appeared to be no doubt that others high in the organization's council would dispute any attempt he may make to do so.

Weiss Under Indictment. Weiss was indicted several months ago along with several other political and personal associates of Long for alleged income tax law violation.

Weiss is about 40 years old and reserved. He became closely associated with the senator, who kept to suite at the hotel where he operated in New Orleans. Numerous reports about likely political developments among the administrationists were unconfirmed as did others concerning activities of the oppositionists.

Neither camp had divulged its strategy. Mr. Smith, former Shreveport clergyman and national organizer of Long's share-out-wealth clubs, announced he had called on Joseph W. Byrnes, speaker of the national house of representatives, to order the congressional inquiry.

"I wired the speaker," said Mr. Smith, "that since he had appointed a committee to investigate Senator Huey P. Long's activities in Louisiana, he should appoint one to investigate his assassination."

Byrnes recently designated a committee with authority to inquire into Louisiana politics to determine whether a "republican form of government" was not destroyed by Long's dominance and legislation.

Louisiana Investigation. Weiss' action was in conformity with a house resolution, generally intended to permit inquiry into congressional elections, but so broadly worded that it provided for a Louisiana investigation.

Long's grave was dug near two great oaks in the center of a beautiful sunken garden across the drive fronting the capitol. It was Mrs. Long's wish that he be buried there and the senator was himself quoted as having expressed a desire to lie in the state house grounds.

The funeral was set for 4 p. m. (Central Standard time). Simple was the ritual arranged for one of the most striking figures in southern politics.

A funeral march, adapted from "Every Man a King," the campaign song which Long wrote; the eulogy and sermon by Mr. Smith, and the reading of scripture, that was all.

But every foot of the 20 acres of Capitol grounds was expected to be filled at the time. The sorrowing and the curious meanwhile streamed by the hundreds past the huge bronze case, set magnificent in construction, in the capitol. Dressed in evening clothes, Long lay on a couch within the coffin.

Floral wreaths were banked higher and higher as the throng passed. G. O. Maher of Baton Rouge, builder of an electrical machine used to locate underground metal when the state house was being built, told of having located several metallic coffins. The bodies in them, buried 100 years before, were relatively well preserved.

He said Long ordered re-burial of the coffins, with the remark: "When my time comes, I hope I'll be buried there, too."

FORT WORTH, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Sherman Durant Davis, 34, Paris, Texas stockman, died unexpectedly in a hospital here yesterday of a fractured skull received Monday night.

A man, said to have been his assailant, left to go to his work in the Louisiana oil fields Tuesday after learning the man was not seriously hurt.

Davis, in company with Paul Martin and son, Russell, both of Sulphur Springs, came here Sunday to buy mules.

Representatives of at least eleven states were expected, although only the legislatures of Texas, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Illinois and Oklahoma have ratified the program.

Governor Marland and Tom Anglin represent Oklahoma. Governor James V. Allred and E. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad Commission, planned to represent Texas and Governor Alf M. Landon and Homer Hoch, chairman of the Corporation Commission, will speak for Kansas.

Illinois, New Mexico, Wyoming, Michigan and Colorado will be represented.

Under the bill creating the commission, the states pledge themselves to conservation of oil and gas resources "by the prevention of physical waste thereof from any cause."

Mr. Smith's request paralleled a suggestion by Representative Flerty (R-Pa) made before Long succumbed.

The committee which is about to investigate Senator Long's activities in Louisiana might also investigate who it was who investigated his attempted murder.

Four United States senators were expected for the funeral. They were Holt of West Virginia, Thomas of Oklahoma, Schall of Minnesota and Mrs. Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, the last of whom was elected after Long had stumped Arkansas in her behalf.

Governor James V. Allred of Texas, another early arrival, declined to give his views on oil questions before the conference was under way.

"It's up to Governor Marland (of Oklahoma), said Landon, "I'll have nothing to offer until we see what he has to say."

The young governor of the state that most recently repealed prohibition was more talkative on liquor control problems for which he has called the legislature into special session for Monday.

"Our repeal law provides that the open saloon is forever prohibited in Texas," he said. "We've got to fix up some state control system—and keep away from the saloon. I've studied every system of state control. We'll fix up something."

SHOOTING AFFRAY IN MEXICAN CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES DECLARED BE PLOT AGAINST GOVERNMENT

By CLARKE LEE Staff

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 12.—(AP)—A second National deputy died today of wounds received in a shooting affray in the Chamber of Deputies last night.

The second to die was Deputy Luis Mendez. Two other deputies are suffering from wounds.

The gun battle resulted in charges that minority members plotted difficulties for the administration.

Luis Mora Tovar, president of the Majority, left wing group of the chamber, told President Lazaro Cardenas administration opponents planned and executed the shooting.

Mora Tovar said minority members had been meeting secretly for some time, planning to use violent means to divide the legislative body.

He asserted hired gunmen took part in the exchange of shots last night which caused the death of Deputy Manuel Martinez Valdez, Majority member from Jalisco, and the wounding of Luis Mendez, Roman Campos Viveros and Mariano M. Vertiz.

Members of the Minority group denied they had arranged the shooting. They also denied they were supporters of General Plutarco Elias Calles, former president now living in the Hawaiian Islands who retired from Mexican politics after a dispute with Cardenas.

Observers said the shooting grew out of a heated debate between members of the Majority and the Minority over internal regulations of the chamber.

The immediate cause was an exchange of words between Juan Benet, Rightist deputy for Guanajuato, and Roman Campos Viveros, member of the Majority.

Spectators said both drew guns, blazed away, and within a few seconds shots were fired from many parts of the chamber.

Many deputies ducked under their desks and spectators in the galleries scrambled for the doors. When the smoke cleared away and order was restored, Valdez was found lifeless on the floor.

Mendez, a Rightist, was wounded seriously in the side. Viveros and Vertiz, both Leftists, escaped with superficial wounds.

The dead deputy, 38 years old, was well known in Mexico as a poet and humorist. He was serving his first term in the chamber and was trying to escape from the room when he was struck in the head by a bullet.

Present during the affray was a Nicaraguan deputy, Casimiro Soltero Tovar, who had just completed a speech expressing his country's regards for Mexico.

When the excitement subsided, members of a reception committee assigned to welcome Soltero searched for him to offer apologies, but said he was nowhere to be found.

Deputies enjoy constitutional immunity, and no arrests were made.

SEVERAL SECTIONS TEXAS LEGALLY WET AS RESULT VOTING

RESULTS OF ELECTION FOR- MALLY DECLARED BY GOV- ERNOR ALLRED

AUSTIN, Sept. 10. (P)—Texas, dry under constitutional prohibition for 16 years, was spotted with subdivisions today where it was legal to buy and sell liquor. Prohibition repeal became effective late yesterday when Governor Allred issued a proclamation declaring the results of the August 24 election. The official vote was: For repeal, 297,597; against 250,948.

The proclamation immediately removed 12 counties and one of more political subdivisions in 50 additional counties from the ban on liquor sales and under a ruling from Attorney General McCraw transactions may be made without restraint, regulation or taxation. These counties and subdivisions were wet under local option prior to state-wide prohibition.

Counties dry under local option will continue under the Dean law, said prohibition enforcement statute, that makes sale of liquor a felony, punishable by one to five years imprisonment of the legislature has been called for September 16 to enact laws to regulate liquor sales.

The official canvass did not include returns from Briscoe, Kimble, Marion, Randall, McMullen, Parmer, San Augustine and Stone-wall counties. They were unreported when the canvass was completed.

Governor Allred also proclaimed the results on six other proposed constitutional amendments. They were:

Authorizing payment of old age pensions: For 444,539; against 108,565.

Authorizing temporary commitment of insane: For 294,287; against 199,258.

Empowering district judges to put convicts on probation: For 245,285; against 216,549.

Other Results Declared: For 274,587; against 188,842.

Abolishing fee system: For 257,815; against 280,019.

Authorizing submission of constitutional amendments at special election: For 214,024; against 238,288.

McCraw said he was studying the question of liquor advertising and would give an opinion soon. The chief problem is the circulation in dry counties of periodicals carrying liquor advertisements.

"You can't overlook the fact that periodicals from outside the state with such advertising have been circulating all over Texas," McCraw said.

AUSTIN, Sept. 10. (P)—A comptroller's survey disclosed today that sale of hard liquor was legal in all portions of 14 counties and in parts of 28 others.

The status of seven counties was uncertain. Emmett Morse of Houston, who presented conflicting information, asserting his survey showed 19 counties were wholly wet and 30 partially.

Morse said he gained his statistics by checking each to assure accuracy.

The completion by the comptroller was based on information supplied by county clerks in response to a questionnaire sent to all counties in which liquor licenses were issued between April, 1917, and March 31, 1918.

The comptroller asked if sale of liquor was legal in the county as a whole or in parts on July 3, 1919, the date constitutional prohibition became effective.

Upon that basis the department stated the status of counties was: Totally dry—Brewster, Borden, Brown, Comal, Duval, El Paso, Hidalgo, Kendall, Maverick, Menard, Terrell, Val Verde, Washington, Webb and Zapata.

Partially wet—Blanco, Brewster, Burleson (only one precinct dry), Cameron, Colorado (only Rock Island school district dry), DeWitt, Fayette (only two school districts dry), Fort Bend (only one precinct dry), Galveston (largest portion wet), Gillespie (only one justice precinct and one school district dry), Goliad, Grimes, Guadalupe (only one precinct dry), Harris, Kerr (only commissioner precinct No. 1 wet), Lavaca, Lee (only precinct No. 8 dry), Live Oak, Llano, Medina (six precincts wet, two dry), Presidio (only city of Marfa precinct dry), Refugio, San Antonio (only justice precinct No. 3 wet), Travis (Austin precinct dry, two possibly some outlying precincts wet), Victoria (only precinct No. 6 dry), Waller, Wharton and Wilson.

County clerks reported the following counties in which licenses were issued during the period, were dry on July 3, 1919: Bastrop, Brazos, Dalhart, Dallas, Falls, Gonzales, Jefferson, McLennan (dry by election Oct. 20, 1917), Milam, Tarrant, Wichita and Williamson.

Clerks of Karnes, Kinney, La Salle, Robertson, Starr, Tom Green and Orange counties, had not reported to the comptroller.

All other counties of the state, 254 counties were considered dry.

West Texas C. C. Opens Protest On Program of WPA

STAMFORD, Sept. 11. (P)—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce today started a telegraphic protest against the federal works progress administration program.

Telegrams from the regional chambers of local districts and chambers of commerce in the territory contended the Texas allotment is unfairly low and that increasing it to parity with other states "will serve to qualify our PWA and being turned down in wholesale lots."

Telegrams from the Abilene Chamber of Commerce and business men, supporting the campaign, were sent to Washington.

FAMOUS FOURTEEN
POINTS OF WILSON
GIVEN LAMBASTING

HITLER DECLARES GERMANY
NOW SECURE BECAUSE OF
REAL NATIONAL POWER

By LOUIS F. LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff
NURNBERG, Germany, Sept. 11. (P)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, in a proclamation read to the Nazi party convention, rapped President Wilson's famous 14 points today, and the delegates assembled from all Germany burst into a bedlam of applause.

"Where are the 14 points of Wilson and where is the world today?" asked Hitler. "The Reich (Germany) is no longer a football and no longer an object of foreign maneuvering, but now is in security—in security not by pact, but by the firm will of its leadership."

(President Wilson, early in 1918, offered to the world a general program of 14 points which served as the basis for the final conclusion of peace ending the world war and for the eventual establishment of the League of Nations.)

The proclamation continued: "We Nazis intend to live in peace and quiet with our neighbors. It is not necessary for us to prove our security by any demonstrations. It is sufficient that we ourselves know it."

"We see in our army the protection for peaceful labor. And the forces we have made them for our liberty and labor."

"This army is our most valued and proudest possession."

No Nazis to fight Christianity. The Hitler proclamation stated that the Nazis had no desire to fight Christianity, adding: But the national socialist state will under no circumstances tolerate in any way "round-about" confessional politics; and on this let no one be deceived concerning the determination of the (Nazi) movement and the state."

"We have already fought clerical politics and run it out of the Reichstag (parliament) after a long fight in which we had no governing assistance, but the other side had the advantage. But today we have the power of making our battle for these principles lighter, x x x"

"We want Christianity as such or against the two confessions." (The Roman Catholic church and the Protestant Confessional Synod.)

Priest Politicians.
"But we will keep our policy clean of priests who mislead their profession and who should have been politicians instead of clergymen."

Hinting that communists would eventually wipe out the church, Der Fuehrer continued:

"The communistic victory would find the solution of the problem of the 14 points. The Protestant churches as well as the Catholic center of politics."

He spoke the following warning to price boosters:

"Beginning for them and without shrinking we will fight such elements and through concentration camps teach them what collective interest and coordination mean."

The Nazis could have made their task easier by devaluation of the mark. Der Fuehrer told his hearers, but refused to do so because "we do not believe that through these methods the world can be solved, but on the contrary we are convinced that the foundation of economic improvement is a system of fixed currency values."

The party he added, also has "an unshakeable will to prevent inflation."

The German leader declared his "fanatical belief in the future of the Nazi movement. History will confirm that what the national socialist party did in three short years was an enormous change which no one thought possible and which even today is not believed by various elements," his proclamation said.

"We have a fanatical belief in the future."

The proclamation was read to the convention by Adolf Wagner, Bavarian Nazi district leader.

Hitler's proclamation asserted, "we have given work to 5,000,000 laborers. That means thirty to forty million working hours daily, regardless of what they do."

"This gigantic achievement of national socialism is for the betterment not only of millions but for the whole nation."

Rudolf Hess, Der Fuehrer's deputy on party matters, lauded the reading of the proclamation.

SECRETARY IKES SEEKING SHOWDOWN WITH HARRY HOPKINS

SCHEDULED MEETING WORK RELIEF ALLOTMENT COM- MITTEE CANCELLED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (P)—Secretary Ikes and Harry L. Hopkins will present their opposing views on administration of the $4,000,000,000 work relief program for a final settlement.

Shortly after Ikes said he would demand a show-down on Hopkins' rejection of 2,000 PWA projects, the relief expert told reporters he would go to Hyde Park "soon."

He refused to amplify his statement, except to say that he would not precede Ikes, who will go there tomorrow.

"I haven't any quarrel with Mr. Ikes," Hopkins said smilingly. "I have altogether too much to do to quarrel with anybody. You know I have."

Observers recalled that he used almost exactly the same language two months ago in seconding Ikes' denial of the slightest difference of opinion between them.

Declaring he had no intention of modifying his requirements for approval of PWA projects, Hopkins said he had been in "constant communication with the president."

Ikes said at his press conference today that he would go to Hyde Park tomorrow morning with Charles West, undersecretary of the interior.

"The President called me last night and asked me to come up and I thought, 'I'll go,'" Ikes said. "The scheduled meeting of the work relief allotment committee would not be held today and that he did not know when another meeting would be held."

Reminded that a deadline fixed by the President calls for the last meeting of the committee a week from today, Ikes said "I'll know more about that when I get back from Hyde Park."

Making no attempt to conceal his opposition to Hopkins, Ikes disputed the work relief program's recent statement that projects rejected by WPA would not reach the allotment committee.

"There is nothing," Ikes said grimly, "in the executive order of the president setting up the tripartite administration of the program, which gives anybody the right to veto anybody's projects."

"The intention was simply to supply certain information, and any member of the allotment committee can bring up any project at any time."

Referring to "an avalanche of PWA applications over the week-end," Ikes said Hopkins' rejection "leaves them in a state of suspended animation until there is a decision."

He said that the applications involved $1,218,000,000 in loans and grants in addition to $1,500,000,000 in additional contributions "by states and communities."

Asked to comment on renewed reports of his differences with Hopkins, Ikes would say only "I haven't seen or talked with Mr. Hopkins since I came back to Washington."

Ikes was caustic in describing rejection of projects on the ground that the expenditure per man given on work was too high. He said: "Under the program, it allowed $1.14 per man given work, the quotient from dividing 3,500,000 persons into the $3,000,000,000 fund."

According to the figures of our experts," he said, "958 was the average cost per man given work in the 2,000 applications rejected by Mr. Hopkins. x x x"

Asked if that figure included the cost of the program, Ikes said, "I figure myself, but I don't think I'm the only one in the government."

Asked if the 2,000 projects were "necessary to complete the PWA program," Ikes said, "These are the good projects, all essential from the point of view of getting people to work."

PWA applications at the close of business Saturday, totaled 5,883 involving expenditures of $1,034,193,383.

They included: Oklahoma 75,797,185; Texas 603,891,207,009.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (P)—The work relief allotment committee called one of its last meetings today to consider among other things, a score of suburban low cost housing projects put forward by Rexford Tugwell's resettlement administration.

The general expectation was that the undersecretary of agriculture, would press his determination to overcome opposition by Secretary Ikes, who insisted Tugwell's proposals conflicted with the PWA slum clearance program.

At the same time it appeared that Ikes' slum clearance and slum clearance projects were in greater danger of falling by the wayside because of the president's series of deadlines for applications.

Even with the new policy of buying and selling land in outlying sections, officials acknowledged it would be difficult to acquire sites and complete plans for the entire 75 projects program in time to advertise for bids by October 22, the date fixed by the president.

Seven projects in the $250,000,000 program are under construction or under contract at the present time. When books were closed on 6,000 applications, the PWA endeavored frantically to add state and local governments in revising 2,000 applications rejected by Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator.

Hopkins' contention was that these either involved too high a cost of materials or required more labor than was available on relief rolls.

Now little chance is seen to revise these rejected projects by Sept. 12, the deadline fixed by the president for submitting almost all applications from the four billion dollar fund in final form.

The final meeting of the allotment committee is scheduled for Sept. 17.

The only work relief agency which did not enforce the Sept. 12 deadline was the rural resettlement administration, for which $100,000,000 has been earmarked.

Aides of Morris L. Cooke, director of this work, said they were planning to expand their activities in coming months.

Hitler, "for reconquering Germany's honor and condemning Jews and communists in a loudly applauded speech preceding the reading of the proclamation."

Long Brothers Brought Together By Huey's Death

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 10.

(P)—The death of Huey P. Long brought together for the first time in years the four Long brothers, who at times differed bitterly over politics and personal affairs.

Most noticeable around the bed, was Julius Long, the oldest brother, who loaned Huey funds to get his law education and became his law partner in Huey's early days.

In the years Julius and Huey broke off all relations, Julius branding Huey a political "madman." Julius even testified before the senate investigating committee against his brother, but when Huey was dying in the hospital, Julius came and mingled his tears with those of the brothers.

Earl Long, the youngest brother, in recent months had been reunited with Huey in his politics after several years' separation. Before the reconciliation Earl worked with Huey's most bitter political opponents, but the death brought him into the fold of his relatives.

Dr. George S. Long, a second brother, journeyed from Oklahoma for a farewell to Huey. George had been an admirer of his brother, although Huey had refused to aid him in his campaigns for office in Oklahoma. Huey's death sorely affected him.

LEGISLATURE OF
LOUISIANA LOSES
ITS GUIDING HAND

SPECIAL SESSION'S GIST,
HOWEVER, BEEN PREPARED BY LONG BEFORE DEATH

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 10. (P)—As Senator Huey P. Long lay dead today, his special session of the legislature carried on for him by President Caldwell, final passage of the bills Long was directing when he was fatally wounded Sunday night.

The senate finance committee quickly approved 88 of the 39 bills introduced by a minor measure without explanation.

A death blow was dealt small loan companies in the state when a bill proposing to reduce the rates for loans not exceeding $500 from 42 per cent a year to 12 per cent was amended to repeal the previous law providing for the 42 per cent rate.

The approved bills will go back to the senate immediately for action on the bills pending under suspension, allowing final passage tomorrow morning and sine die adjournment of the five day special session.

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 10. (P)—Senator Huey Long's death today left the Louisiana legislature without its guiding hand.

Long, shot down by an assassin, had directed six special sessions of the legislature since 1928. He said and was in the midst of a seventh when he was wounded Sunday night.

The Louisiana "dictator" and self-styled king took particular joy in engineering legislation under his personal supervision and was at his best in appearances before committee sessions.

"Now this here bill," Long would say, smiling, "is just a mere formality. It is just a mere favorable report." The committee chairman would chime in, "Without objection the bill is reported favorable."

And so the routine went. Long ushered his bills through the house ways and means committee Sunday morning.

The 39 measures approved by Long before he was wounded moved through the assembly with just as much ease as if Long was personally behind the program.

Several bills make a fresh attack on President Roosevelt's administration, others give financial aid to the city of New Orleans, which Long controlled, and still others care for odds and ends.

The house passed the bills yesterday and sent them to the senate where they were referred to the finance committee for favorable approval.

Going back to the senate at 2 p. m. today they are scheduled to be passed to third reading for passage Wednesday morning.

PLANS FOR CONTEST

REPEAL STATEWIDE PROHIBITION MAKES LITTLE DIFFERENCE

TEXANS' DRINKING HABITS REMAIN AT PAR AFTER RE- VERSION TO LOCAL OPTION

DALLAS, Sept. 11. (P)—Repeal of statewide prohibition made little change in Texans' drinking habits.

Hard liquor was sold and displayed somewhat more openly even in urban areas immediately after repeal, but a newspaper survey showed little increase in consumption of alcoholics.

In theory Texas was to revert, in case of repeal of local option prohibition, to the status of 1919 when the dry amendment was adopted. Even that status was questionable, however, with reports to official and unofficial agencies at variance on the question of how much of the state was legally wet.

The comptroller general's office figured 12 of the 254 counties legally wet, and parts of 50 others. R. Emmett Morse of Houston, report leader, said he had reports from official sources showing 19 wholly wet and 30 more partially so.

Officers were further confused by varying interpretations of the law. The attorney general's office held that the Dean law, enabling act under the constitutional amendment killed by the election of two weeks ago, was still effective in local option type areas held, however, that the Dean law died with the amendment when the result of the election was canvassed Monday.

The legislature will meet in special session September 16 to straighten out the legal snarl.

San Antonio, which piled up a big repeal majority, was one of the most open spots for liquor sales, but alcoholics had been openly available there except for brief and rare intervals since shortly after national repeal sales were reported as apparently not much increased.

No Change at Galveston.
Galveston reported no perceptible increase in sales. Hard liquor displays had taken the place of beer bottles that decorated bars during a recent series of ranger raids. Houston was in much the same case.

Dallas, theoretically dry, had several new bars, and established ones in most instances had quit pretending they were drug stores. Fort Worth reported little change.

El Paso in the far west reported little change and "saloons still operating."

In the East Texas oil fields, an area dry by local option but predominantly for repeal in the recent election, liquor sales were reported from Longview and Tyler. A recent grand jury at Tyler was ordered to give no attention to Dean law violations except to list infractions for possible consideration against applicants for liquor licenses.

Varying Revenue Estimated.
Legislators, gathering at Austin for the special session, made varying estimates of the revenue expected of liquor tax laws. The guesses ranged usually from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year in case of adoption of a licensing system accompanied by a tax on liquor itself. Estimates of the revenue from a state monopoly, a possibility under the repeal amendment, ranged up to $7,000,000. Morse was working on a license bill with a tentative figure of 50 cents a gallon tax on liquor itself. Licenses cost at the time state prohibition went into effect and dealers in addition were required to post $5,000 bond.

Morse said he wanted to "obtain the most revenue for the state and yet not ask the boot-legalists to go into business."

The election returns, charted on a map, showed most of the repeal counties south of a line east and west through Galveston and Houston, and Grimes counties north of the line.

Plan Local Option Election.
Beaumont, well south of the line, voted 2 to 1 for repeal, although it was dry by local option. But there were indications that liquor sales in about the same volume as in national prohibition days. County officials planned a local option election as soon as the legislature sets up machinery.

Arthur reported open sales. Corpus Christi, coastal resort city, saw little change in the patronage of bars that had been in open operation since Jan. 1, except for brief intervals when sales were there or reported on the way.

San Angelo in West Texas said sales continued on about the same basis as before repeal. The city and county both voted for repeal, although the city precinct was still dry by local option. Officers said they did not know what to do about it because they were not sure what laws were effective.

Lubbock and Amarillo said there was no apparent change in the status of liquor sales. Both were officially dry.

In the Rio Grande Valley little effect was felt. A few places in Brownsville had liquor on display but no sales otherwise than in packages were reported. Harlingen reported several bars in operation and package sales were made at one San Antonio report.

Corsicana reported no apparent loosening of restrictions.

May Ask More Funds
For Oil Probe Body

AUSTIN, Sept. 12. (P)—Rep. Augustine Celaya of Brownsville said today the hot oil investigation committee might ask the legislature for additional funds.

"The committee is willing to give its time to the work," Celaya said, "we will make a report to this special session and will continue if the house provides funds."

Expenses of the committee were limited to $1,000 by the regular session.

FLOWER BANKED GRAVE IS RESTING PLACE FOR WEISS

MILD-MANNERED PHYSICIAN WHO TURNED ASSASSIN SHOT DOWN BY LONG GUARDS

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 10. (P)—A flower banked grave today marked the resting place of Dr. Carl A. Weiss, mild-mannered physician who turned assassin and mortally wounded Senator Huey P. Long.

The 30-year-old eye specialist, in turn shot down by Long's bodyguards, was buried yesterday following services attended by thousands of persons representing every strata of society.

The physician's parents, his wife of two years and his associates could give no reason beyond a passive political opposition to Long for shooting the senator.

His bullet-torn body was lowered into the grave while the throng at the services stood in a heavy rain.

Six physicians, his associates, served as pallbearers. The office of the dead was chanted by the Rev. F. L. Gassler. Interment was in Roselawn cemetery.

Wreaths from the Kiwanis club and the Young Businessmen's club decked the casket and large delegations of each organization attended the funeral. Others present were former Governor John M. Parker, Congressman J. Y. Sanders, Jr., Dean R. L. Tullis and District Attorney John Fred Odum.

"I am convinced beyond any doubt," Dr. Weiss' father said, "that my son did not go into the capital Sunday night to kill Long. Whatever happened there between him and the senator and those who killed him, I do not think I shall ever know. That is something we'll never know. And what happened there, what brought him there, will always be between him and his maker. The mother, too, could give no motive for her son's action. Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank every one who was so kind and loyal to us at the death of Mr. C. A. Weiss on Sept. 4, 1935. In event of this tragedy to anyone I hope to return same.

AN OLD MAN'S YOUNG FRIEND: SAGE COUNSEL FOR SUCCESS *

Heart Hunger of the Lonely Great--Proteges,
And How They Turn Out--Paul's Lavish
Love for Timothy--Last Words of Aged Hero Addressed to Youth.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Rome as a date-line is every day in the news; but a multitude of persons have a deeper interest in the city than that which is represented by current dispatches. With many of the Christians of St. Paul and the Christian martyrs is ever paramount. My own memories of much of modern Rome are blurred; but a few historic Christian shrines stand out with permanent vividness. Especially does my thought revert to that dreadful dungeon, the Mamertine Prison, where Paul was a prisoner. Its like cannot be found in use in any civilized land. Underground, entered by a hole, it was the extreme of prison terror.

Yet the Mamertine Prison is a spot of glorious memories. Therein the great apostle dwelt with exalted thoughts and imperial plans that dwarfed Mussolini's projects. It was from this vile hole that he wrote his last letter, shortly before being led out onto the Appian Way to face the Roman headsman's sword. And that letter, overflowing with human tenderness and spiritual zeal, was directed to the person he loved most in all the world. Timothy, his son in the faith. It is a wonderful exhibition of the power of the gospel that such an epistle, which is more vital today than most current literature, should have come out of the dark, dank den of Mamertine Prison.

A Young Man's Portrait.
All we know about Timothy comes from Paul's letters. We see him only in a mirror, as it were. There is scarcely any other mention of him in the New Testament. Nevertheless, so full and frequent are Paul's allusions to him that we have a clear record of the young man's life and activities.

His case of Paul and Timothy is a historic instance of a lonely and aged great man lavishing his affection upon a youth for whom he hoped and planned a distinguished future. Few young persons recognize the loneliness of the aged, or their need to feed their spirits upon the vitality of youth. The desire to continue to live in another life, and to impart one's name and experience and wisdom to those still able to carry on in the world's activities, is pathetically powerful in those whose own powers are failing, and whose end is near. One of the mysteries of life is that the wise man or woman should be removed from earth's scene when their stored-up mental powers seem most valuable. Modern business is foolish as well as ruthless as it dispenses with veteran workers who represent experience and maturity. Paul's yearning over Timothy dramatically embodies a widespread present reality.

Timothy was the son of a mixed marriage. His father was a Greek and his mother a Jewess--so Timothy could not fill a German pulpit today. Of his father, we know nothing. Perhaps he died early; perhaps he was of no account. It was the mother, Eunice, and the grandmother, Lois, both godly women, who had the training of the boy. They gave him the religious background to which the apostle could appeal--a priceless heritage. With deep concern we observe that a generation of youth are growing up today without this religious equipment. Biblical allusions are not familiar to them. The mighty moral precepts of scripture are outside of their understanding. Many modern Bunnies and Loises are too engrossed at the bridge table, the "beauty parlor" and the motion picture house to train the Timothys of tomorrow. It took three human beings--his mother, his grandmother and the Apostle Paul to make Timothy what he became.

A Hero Worshipped.
Amidst the hills of Lyconia--now interior Turkey--young Timothy spent his boyhood. He was born either in Derbe or Lystra, neighboring cities. Derbe is now a heap of dirt, and Lystra is a mud village built on ancient ruins, which will some day be excavated. Significantly, the site of the ancient church, as it is called, is alongside of a beautiful spring; and the church has been the greater spring.

Probably it was when Paul and Barnabas were in Lystra, and were first worshipped as gods and then stoned, that the hero-worshipping youth Timothy first became attached to Paul. Thenceforth, the young man's story is bound up with that of the great missionary. He served Paul longer and more faithfully than any other of the latter's friends and disciples. Moreover, he received more tokens of favor and affection than any other. He was assiduously trained for ever larger work in the Christian brotherhood, and became Paul's trusted commissioner to the churches of Macedonia, Thessalonica, Ephesus and Corinth; and became his close companion in Rome. Timothy was probably in Ephesus when this letter was written from the Mamertine Prison. "I have no man like minded," wrote the apostle, as he pleaded for the presence of his protegee. Timothy's name is mentioned in six of the Pauline epistles. If on one side there was undimmed devotion and hero-worship, on the other there was intense affection, the expression of the love of a great-hearted man, who had no family of his own. Each personality enriched the other.

Standing By The Younger.
When I was a young man, active in Christian Endeavor's larger concerns, I grew heartily sick of being constantly alluded to as "our young brother." I was a real handicap to the cause. So I cherished Paul's counsel to Timothy: "Let no man despise thy youth." Evidently Timothy met the same sort of disparagement from the graybeards, and was troubled by it. Multitudes of young persons have been hindered in the fullest expression of their powers because they could not surmount this hurdle of age's disdain for youth. Not so Paul. He was one of the great old men who never suffered from hardening of the arteries of his mind and heart. He believed in youth; he entrusted his most important commissions to young Timothy. His counsel was that most needed by ambitious young persons today: begin early to do your greatest work.

"So high is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, 'Thou must!'"

The Youth replies, "I can!"

This is peculiarly a young people's lesson. It is keyed to the note, "Slur into flame the gift that is in thee." It is a ringing challenge to endure, harden, train, which there is no finer training for youth. Christ's man wears the cross on his breast and in his heart. And the loftiest truths were not withheld from young Timothy; the church of an earlier day was mistaken which provided diluted and jejune literature for young people. The wise denominations are giving youth the strong meat of the word for their development. The Southern Baptists have awarded seventy-seven thousand diplomas since the first of the year to members who have completed their staff training course for Sunday school workers; the total for 1935 will be double that number.

Thus is fulfilled the aged hero's counsel to his young friend: "Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling aright the word of truth." For the word of truth is the all-important thing, in every one of life's relationships. On the Amherst campus stands a notable statue of Noah Webster. The inscription has nothing to do with the great man's attainments as a scholar; it penetrates deeper, and runs, in the words of our Lesson, "I know Him Whom I have believed." That word and that

And ye shall succor men;

Help them who cannot help
again;
Beware from right to swerve."
—Emerson.

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW BUSINESS HERE THURSDAY MORNING

EXCLUSIVE DRESS SHOPPE HOUSED IN ELABORATE AND MODERN QUARTERS

Doors of The Exclusive Dress Shoppe, Corsicana's latest business enterprise, will be formally opened to the public Thursday morning at 8 o'clock in elaborate new quarters at the corner of West Fourth Avenue and North Beaton Street.

The Corsicana unit is the sixteenth of a chain of Texas shoppe owned by J. J. Utz of Beaumont, and the seventeenth is scheduled for opening in Galveston Saturday. Miss Marge Carden, manager, is directing the opening of the local unit, and Miss Leila Gallaher will be the Corsicana manager. Miss Ruby Lyle of the Tyler store will also aid in the opening.

All of the remainder of the store staff is composed of Corsicana residents. Mrs. J. E. McCaffrey, Jr., will have charge of the millinery section; and salesladies include Miss Margaret Jo Isom, Miss Ora Jones, Mrs. Effie Mae Bonnet, Mrs. Pearl Browning and Miss Jackie Tate.

Maintaining a slogan of "Exclusive But Never Expensive," officials of the series of stores state, faith, plus the ceaseless prayers of the nation of his aged friend, made an immortal young Timothy.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS
Genius is eternal patience.—Michael Angelo.

Many a man has thought himself broken up, when he has merely been ready for the sowing.—Hugh Hedwood.

If in the morn you throw minutes away, you can't pick them up in the course of the day.—Anon.

It is a good thing to be rich, and a good thing to be strong, but it is a better thing to be beloved of many friends.—Euripides.

Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father, is this: to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unstained from the world.—James 1:27.

And ye shall succor men;
"His nobleness to serve;
Help them who cannot help
again;
Beware from right to swerve."
—Emerson.

ed that the economical offerings were made possible through quantity purchases, paid for by cash, and their policy of selling for cash.

The new quarters of the store comprise one of the show places of the downtown section with its modernistic black ornamental glass front, and deep show windows proving an exceptional amount of display space.

The modernistic motif is also carried out in the interior with the decorations in shades of blue and gold. Lighting fixtures are of crystal and polished chromium. Wall cases provide space for a large supply of seasonal merchandise which will include dresses, coats, suits and millinery. A large number of mirrors are provided for the convenience of patrons.

Officials of the store reported that they were very optimistic over their prospects in Corsicana, pointing out that the unit had been placed in this city after a careful survey of the state, and an analysis of the clientele available, with the result that a heavy investment was made here.

General overhauling and modernization of the building was carried out by J. E. Metcalf & Son, general contractors, from plans prepared by William Kellogg, Houston architect. The interior decorating was done by Roy Williamson of Houston, and the fixtures were made by the Burge Manufacturing Company.

The store hours will be from 8 to 6 p. m. on regular weekdays, with the store remaining open until 9 o'clock on Saturdays.

A cordial invitation was extended to the residents of Corsicana and Navarro county to inspect the new store.

Produced by Constipation

A cleansing laxative—purely vegetable Black-Draught—is the first thought of thousands of men and women who have found that by restoring the downward movement of the bowels many disagreeable symptoms of constipation promptly can be relieved.

Mr. W. M. Hefner of Clinton, S. C. writes: "I have found that Black-Draught is very effective in the cleansing of the system. When afflicted by the dull headache, the drowsiness and lassitude caused by constipation, I take Black-Draught—natural, pure vegetable laxative."

CORSICANA, TEX., SEPT. 13, 1935

FIFTY MILLION LOST ACRES

As matters now stand,

and unless there is a marked

change in our present

method of agriculture,

says Morris L. Cooke, rural electrification administrator,

"we have as a nation

less than 100 years to go."

He might be wrong

about it. Yet figures gathered by experts in a national land survey are impressive.

In a survey of nearly two billion acres of American soil, just completed by the Soil Conservation Service, the investigators have found more than 50,000,000 acres "essentially destroyed

by wind or water erosion"

and useless for further crop production. Most of this ruined land has been cultivated and was formerly

good soil.

It means a loss, from bad

farming methods, of about two acres per family for our whole population.

Some of this soil can be restored for tillage in time.

Much can be partially redeemed by reforestation. That is worth doing. But the big lesson is the use of better

methods henceforth in the use of land cultivated.

Owners, actual or prospective,

can get practical

information along this line

from the agricultural department at Washington or their own state capital, and even the back-yard gardener can learn something useful.

SAFE IN THE WILDS.

Roy Chapman Andrews,

the explorer, is amused by

the fact that whenever he's going to tackle a hard job

in some out-of-the-way

place, the insurance companies cancel his accident insurance. He insists that this is exactly the opposite of what they ought to do.

If he had as many narrow escapes in the Gobi desert

and other wildernesses as he has in American cities, he would write a book about them. But it's no use writing a book about his escapes in the midst of civilization, because everybody

at home is facing the same perils and taking them as a matter of course.

It sounds reasonable. If traffic gets much worse,

we'll be making tracks for

Central Africa or Tibet or Antarctica.

Explorers and travelers

and hunters, anyway, are usually better equipped to meet dangers, and on guard,

so nothing much happens to them. People at home go around in a sort of dream

and get bumped off.

We've been getting disillusioned, anyway, about the perils of wild countries.

There was a news item just

the other day about a herd of lions in South Africa or somewhere that had been pestering a village, and how some school children went out and drove them away

by throwing sticks at them.

None of those perils compare with the driver who has had six drinks, or the nervous kid with a gun who wants your money to take his girl to a show, or the careless chef who lets potatoes get started in the refrigerator.

Some one has figured out statistically that 92 percent of human worrying is unjustified. And the other

8 per cent doesn't get us anywhere.

From the way public utility stocks have been rising lately, it seems as if maybe

a certain amount of reform

is good for them, on the good old principles that a few fleas are good for a dog.

EXCUSES FOR BEING LATE.

This I know as sure as fate,

Some will reach my dinner late;

Some will longer take to dress

Than a queen or machioness;

Some will tell me that they stayed.

Having trouble with the maid;

Some will calmly tell me that

Suddenly a tire went flat.

Others—maybe one or two—

Had a phone call coming through.

Some will tearfully explain

They were held up by a train.

Some of course with eyes aflame

Will tell their husbands blame.

All apologize they

Will account for the delay.

But to tell the truth of it,

None among them will admit

Or have nerve enough to state

It is stylish to be late.

ANNE IN THE AIR

Anne Lindbergh was afraid. She tells about it in her book, just out, "North to the Orient." Lindy was trying to land in a fog off

the coast of Japan:

"Here there was nothing to hold on to—nothing, unless it were the sky. The Sun still shone. My husband motioned me to reel in the antenna. Emergency landing, that meant. I buckled

my belt tighter. Down,

down, down, the engine throttled, wisps of fog temporarily blinding us as we descended. I was losing the sky. I did not want to let go until I could grasp something below. Down the sides of the mountain one could see a strip of water gleaming, harebell-blue. We were diving toward it.

Down, down—the sky was gone. The sea! Hold on to the sea—that little patch of blue. Oh, the sea was gone, too. We were blind—and still going down—oh, God!

We'll hit the mountain! A wave of fear like terrific pain swept over me, shriv-

eling to blackened ashes

the meaningless words

"courage"—"pride"—"control." Then a lurch, the engine roared on again and a sickening roller-coaster up.

Up-up-up—I felt myself

gasping to get up, like a drowning man. There—the sky was blue—above—the sky and the sun! Courage

flowed back in my veins,

a warm, pounding stream.

"Thank God, there is the sky. Hold on to it with both hands. Let it pull you up. Oh, let us stay here, I thought, up in this clear

bright world of reality,

where we can see the sky and feel the sun. Let's never go down!"

But they went down.

Again and again, up and down the mountain side until at last:

"Spank, spank, spank—

the ship is breaking under us! I am falling through.

No—the seat has bounced down, that's all. It must be rough water. We're slowing up now. We're all right—we're down!"

And in all this time no

sound escaped her. No sudden move to disturb her husband's flying. Just silence and sitting tight.

When the danger was all over, her husband turned and looked at her. "What's the matter?" he asked, seeing her face.

"Nothing," I stammered.

"I'm so happy to be down!"

That's courage. That's pride. That's control.

HELP FOR YOUTH

The National Youth Administration, with its $50,-

000,000 appropriation, probably has as much justification as any relief or emergency measure. In some ways it looks more constructive and hopeful than various other government undertakings, because it deals with ambitious young people and promotes education.

There may be some boondogging, but apparently not much, if Director Aubrey W. Williams' plans are carried out according to his specifications.

Half a million boys and girls from 16 to 25 years

of age come within the scope of this project. It is not charity. They will be given a chance to earn an education, whether in practical hand-crafts, or in intellectual pursuits, or in music and art.

High school students, college students and postgraduate students will do

part-time work at $6 to $30

a month. Fifty thousand youths will be taken out of transient camps, where the government put them after rescuing them from rod-

riding and hitch-hiking.

They will be hired at "security wages" on work-relief projects. Efforts will be made to get business firms,

industrial plants and government agencies to employ them as apprentices.

It is a difficult, complex undertaking, which calls for great wisdom and care in administration. Well handled, much good may come

of it.

AMERICAN ATHENS.

Governmental operations

at Washington have obscured another big wave

of activity. A building era

that may become historic is under way. Washington is said to be the fastest-growing American city today in new construction as well as population.

Living accommodations

have to be provided for the great number of new federal employees. But we had that during the war.

The really notable thing is the construction of monumental and usually beautiful public buildings. On every side magnificent public structures are going up.

So thickly are these modern temples rising in the vicinity of the Capital that old-timers are said to have difficulty finding their way around. Visitors are dazzled, and foreigners are astonished, by the profusion of massive architecture.

We may soon be able to make a fair comparison

with the famous old Ro-

FORT PARKER STATE PARK WILL BE ONE LARGEST PROJECTS

LARGE CONCRETE DAM WILL CREATE BIG LAKE ON 1600-ACRE LIMESTONE PRESERVE

MEXIA, Sept. 11.—(Spl.)—Limestone county's new Fort Parker State Park, at Springfield, 6 miles south of Mexia, will be one of the largest park projects in Texas. W. F. Ayres, superintendent and chief engineer, told the Lions club in a luncheon Tuesday. The large concrete dam about 200 yards above the bridge on Highway 14, will be 500 feet long and 40 feet wide from the foundation and 17 feet above the present level of the Navasota river, he said.

Water will be backed up over 700 acres, ranging in depth from 30 feet to 3 feet. All trees will be moved from the area, and a dam will be installed to cut the logs into lumber for use in other CCC camp projects.

The dam will be set on solid rock under the silt of the present river bed. Plans have been completed and will be checked by the best engineers in Washington before work is started on the dam. Excavations have been started, using labor from the CCC camp nearby. The 200 employees, 16 local experienced men, army officers in charge, and staff of ten engineers are encamped at Springfield, on the river, once the county seat of Limestone county, but now merely a farming community.

Park Improvements. Roads, houses for the park keepers, a boat house and a landing and other park facilities will be included in the work of the CCC camp. It will require at least 18 months to complete the project. The 1600 acres of land was purchased by Mexia and Groesbeck citizens and deeded to the state park board. It is now being fenced preparatory to the major construction work.

Some 5000 yards of concrete will be required for the dam which will be two feet higher than originally planned, Mr. Ayres says to afford a better lake and more abundant water to prevent more abrupt fluctuations in the lake site will be removed before the water is backed up over it.

The lake will be excellent for fishing, boating, swimming and other recreation. There may be a game reserve section at the upper end.

BRAZOS VALLEY FREE FAIR OPENS AT WAGO ON SEPTEMBER 23RD

Arrangements have been practically completed for the Brazos Valley Free Fair which is to be held on the Cotton Palace Grounds, Waco, commencing September 23 and lasting through the 28th.

Numerous entries have already been made for F. F. A. booths, 4-H and community displays, as well as home demonstration and home economics clubs exhibits. The world's largest carnival company, Beckman and Gerety, will be on the midway with 19 rides and 22 shows. In addition there will be several independent attractions including the musical extravaganza staged in the coliseum.

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday the horse show will be presented with more than $100,000 worth of horses participating. The renowned Senator Crawford will be among the entrants, and Black Patch grandson of the famous Dan Patch.

On Monday and Wednesday nights there will be amateur boxing bouts, staged under the supervision of the Waco recreation department, and bringing together the best amateurs in this section of the state.

On Monday and Wednesday evening, commencing at 10:30, the Huacotonians, popular string band will play for dancing in the Coliseum. On Saturday from 5 to 8 p. m. the same band will play for an old-time dance in the coliseum. On Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, commencing at 10:30 p. m. Buster Starnes and his N. E. C. band will be heard in their interpretation of the popular dance tunes of the day.

A. E. Quinn, secretary of the fair, states that the entertainment and attractions provided this year surpass anything offered in Central Texas in more than a decade. Entertainment for every member of the family, and for every age will be provided on the fair grounds.

There will be no admission charge to the grounds, and all indications point to a record breaking attendance.

SOME INFORMATION CONCERNING OLD AGE PENSION AND WHO ARE EXPECTED TO BECOME ELIGIBLE

AUSTIN, Sept. 11.—(P)—How many Texans will receive an old-age pension under the constitutional amendment recently adopted, how much will it be and where will the money come from? These questions are dividing interest with liquor regulation among members of the legislature arriving for the special session beginning September 15 despite the fact Governor Allred as yet has not submitted the subject of pensions.

Judging from queries to all official sources and widespread newspaper comment, they are even more absorbing to "old folks" by thousands who wish to get on the rolls and tax payers who will have to foot the bill.

While the specific answers depend on factors not clarified, the opinion of some students of the problem is that, if the expected number of other states is applied in Texas, many persons expecting a pension merely because they are 65 years old are due a big surprise.

There are restrictions, rather liberal by the federal social security act, restrictions in the amendment and, most important of all, other restrictions likely to be adopted by the legislature. They promise to cut the total on the pension roll far below the estimated 233,199 persons 65 years and older in Texas at present.

Federal Provision. Under the security act, any citizen of the United States 65 years old and not an inmate of a public institution may be eligible, insofar as the federal government is concerned, if a state plan meeting certain administrative specifications is adopted.

Except for these limitations, however, and an additional one, that a person cannot be denied assistance on grounds of insufficient residence if he has lived in a state for one year immediately preceding his application and for any five years out of the nine preceding it, states are not prevented from imposing other eligibility requirements.

Up to 1934, 29 states and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii had old-age pension laws under which only 200,000 were receiving assistance, but a nationwide survey has disclosed that to conform with the new federal statute many laws were being liberalized and thousands made eligible.

A report of the United States senate finance committee showed that most of the states prohibited pensions to persons with relatives liable and able to support them, who were inmates of a jail or an asylum, who disposed of property to obtain a pension, or who were habitual tramps, vagrants or beggars.

Other Disqualifications. Other disqualifications included desertion of spouse, failure to support wife or child, under sentence for crime, in need of institutional care, recipient of state, federal or foreign government pension, unable earn $1 a day and failure to work according to ability.

Observers provided that transfer of the applicant's property to the pension authorities might be demanded before authorization of a pension. Twenty-three authorized collections from the estate of a deceased pensioner or the amount of pension payments.

The amendment adopted August 24 barred from assistance habitual criminals, habitual drunkards and inmates of state-supported institutions. It conformed to the federal residence specifications, but said the legislature might adopt "such limitations and restrictions as may be deemed expedient."

Observers believed members of the legislature would be subjected to pressure to make the terms of any pension legislation as liberal as possible and there would be opposition from those fearing taxes might be increased. Editorials urging caution in the program have been appearing in many state newspapers.

COUNTY OFFICERS EXPECTED TO FACE CONTEMPT CHARGES

ACTION THREATENED WHEN RAID STAGED AFTER INJUNCTION GRANTED

Two men charged by complaint with the alleged violation of the prohibition laws are at liberty on bond as a result of a raid conducted by county and precinct officers three miles east of Kerens on Highway 31 and four Navarro county officers will likely face contempt of court proceedings before Judge H. F. Kirby of the Seventy-Seventh judicial district court for violating an injunction granted by Judge Kirby, August 26.

T. W. Lovett, attorney for the accused men, stated Wednesday that contempt of court proceedings would be instituted during the day against Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse, Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd, both of Corsicana; A. H. Hollaway, constable, and T. A. Crowley, justice of the peace, both of Kerens.

Released on Bond. Pete Massey was released on bond in the sum of $1,000 and John Henry Kyser was released on bond of $750.

A search warrant was issued for violating the prohibition laws at the conclusion of examining trials before Judge Crowley Wednesday to await the action of the Navarro county grand jury which will be empaneled by District Judge J. S. Callcutt Monday, Oct. 7.

An injunction was granted, Aug. 26, by Judge Kirby, restraining and enjoining Sheriff Pevehouse and his deputies, and Hollaway and his deputies from conducting raids on Massey's place or visiting the premises and also a mandatory injunction was granted ordering the return of Mid cases of 3.2 beer to the defendant, Judge Crowley was restrained from issuing any further search warrants for Massey's place in the order granted by Judge Kirby. The beer, 20-odd cases, is still in the county jail.

Examining Trial Wednesday. Five and one-half cases of 3.2 beer were seized in the raid conducted late Tuesday. The search warrants and subpoenas were issued to Judge Crowley. The examining trials Wednesday were conducted by Criminal District Attorney John R. Curington.

Massey was arrested Tuesday and was brought to the county jail here and remained in custody until the examining trial Wednesday shortly before noon, despite efforts to provide bail. Kyser was reported to have been brought to the county jail Wednesday morning by Constable Holloway.

The Kerens precinct has voted "dry" on beer and other prohibition elections in former years. Massey had been charged with a disqualification statement in the case prior to its presentation to Judge Kirby.

Deputy Sheriff J. M. Westbrook is reported to have six bottles of beer allegedly purchased at the Massey's place Tuesday afternoon, later releasing him.

DRESDEN METHODIST CHURCH HOMECOMING SUNDAY, SEPT. 22D

The Methodist church at Dresden is planning a home-coming to be held on Sept. 22 in connection with our Fourth Quarterly Conference. Our presiding elder, Rev. C. R. Gray, will preach at 11 o'clock and hold the conference immediately after lunch will be served on the grounds. The afternoon will then be devoted to talks and reports from the old timers.

All former residents and friends of Dresden are invited to come. From an article written by Mr. M. F. Fultz in the Christian Advocate of Sept. 11, 1913, we find that the first Sunday preaching appointment at Dresden (then Richmond) was in 1844, which is said to be the first appointment in Navarro county. The first church was a log house on Postmaster Melton's land a mile from the town. In 1856 the church was built that was standing in 1913. Mr. L. R. Brim was the builder.

In 1852 or 1853 the postoffice was moved and the town named Dresden. Dresden was on the Red Oak Mission.

This article written by Mrs. Fultz will be read on Sept. 22 at the church.

ROY F. JOHNSON, Pastor.

Van Sweringens Expect to Retain Control of Lines

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(P)—O. P. and M. M. J. Van Sweringens, Cleveland railroad empire builders, were understood today to have completed arrangements with their bankers to retain control of their far flung rail domain.

It was learned that J. P. Morgan and Co., head of the banking syndicate, had been holding $48,000,000 in notes of the Cleveland brothers, against which controlling interest in the key holding company has been pledged as collateral, will auction off the collateral soon, and the Van Sweringens will bid for the collateral at the sale.

All that the Van Sweringens would say officially was that they and their associates "have completed arrangements to bid for the collateral at the sale."

SPECIAL SESSION LEGISLATURE HAS TWO KNOTTY PROBLEMS IN REPEAL AND OLD AGE PENSIONS

By CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, Sept. 10.—(P)—Prohibition repeal and adoption of a constitutional amendment authorizing state old age pensions passed two knotty problems to the legislature for solution at a special session.

A sharp fight is in prospect over methods to control dispensing of liquor. The question of obtaining revenues to meet old age pensions, in view of the heavy deficit and increased governmental costs, may prove extremely troublesome.

The struggle over liquor regulations is expected to be sharp but it may also be short and decisive. It is probable that after a majority votes for one of two main plans opponents will join to give it immediate effect.

One group will propose that sales be regulated through a state monopoly while another will contend for a license system. The monopoly will find favor with dry leaders, aided by some wets, who would give all profits to the general revenue fund. Leaders in the repeal movement will hold out for a system of licenses.

There is doubt among observers which side will be able to muster a majority and strong arguments are being prepared by adherents of the respective plans.

The fact that any bill that fails to obtain a two-thirds majority in each house cannot become effective 90 days after the end of the session is regarded as sufficient to persuade the defeated faction to support the scheme favored by the majority. Should a liquor regulation measure fail to be put into immediate effect the state would lose a large amount of revenue.

It is believed that leaders of both groups will have little trouble in agreeing on restrictions on liquor dispensaries after a test on the monopoly and license systems. Prohibition repeal leaders have stated they intended to write a bill bringing dispensaries under stringent regulations. Dry chiefs have said they would be equally insistent.

Both will be looking toward the November, 1936, general election when the question of a mandatory state monopoly will be before the voters.

Miss Faye Bunch to Teach Weatherford Junior College

Miss Faye Bunch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bunch of Fort Worth, has left to assume her new duties as head of the English department of Weatherford Junior College at Weatherford.

Miss Bunch did graduate work at Southern Methodist University at Dallas the past summer, and for the last three years has taught English and Latin in Powell High school. Miss Bunch is well known among the girls' basket ball coaches of Navarro county for her interest in girls' athletics.

She will be accompanied by her younger sister, Miss Vivian Clair Bunch, who will attend Weatherford College as a transfer from North Texas State Teachers' College, Denton.

Don't Let Your Dollar Become A "Ho-bo!"

There is a difference in dollars. There is the "tramp" dollar—the dollar that is spent away from home. Then there is the home dollar with its home circulation—home benefits, home profits.

Though both of these dollars are marked One Hundred Cents, the home dollar continues to multiply itself—at home—for here community interests are mutual. The success of this City contributes to the success of everybody in it. A prosperous city rests on individual prosperity.

Not so with the "Tramp" dollar—once spent it is gone forever.

The advantage to you of spending your dollar at home is greater than the tramp dollar can possibly buy—if it bought you one hundred cents' worth—which it cannot possibly do, because the other fellow must make a profit.

There is a big truth in this worth your serious thought.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD WEDNESDAY FOR JAMES S. HARLLEE

FORMER COUNTY OFFICIAL
PASSED AWAY IN LOCAL HOS-PITAL TUESDAY NIGHT

Funeral services for James S. Harllee, 78, former public official in Corsicana and Georgetown, resident of Corsicana for more than 30 years, who died in the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic Tuesday night shortly after 11 o'clock, were held Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the family home, 617 West Park avenue, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. The rites were conducted by Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church. A large crowd of friends attended the rites.

Born in Marion county, S. C., June 9, 1857, son of General William Harllee and Martha Shackleford Harllee, Mr. Harllee was educated in Carolina Military Academy, Charlotte, N. C., 1872-1874, and came to Texas in 1876. His father was a distinguished soldier, statesman and counselor.

After residing in Austin for several years, Mr. Harllee moved to Georgetown where he was tax assessor and collector for some time, being re-elected without opposition. He came to Corsicana in 1903 and was deputy in the district clerk's office until his election as district clerk in 1920. He retired after two terms, but kept abreast of the times by constant reading and observation and was recognized as one of the best posted men in the county on political, current and other events. Despite his advancing years, he kept in close contact with daily events and was one of the best-known and liked men in public office.

Surviving are his wife, seven sons, Frank Harllee, Corsicana; Edward Harllee, Tucson, Ariz.; Wallace Harllee, Coleman; Charlie Harllee, Corsicana; Leroy Harllee, Overton; Marion Harllee, McCamey; and Tom Harllee, Corsicana; three daughters, Miss Lizzie Harllee, Corsicana; Mrs. John C. Calhoun, Corsicana; and Mrs. Tom Hart, Dallas; nine grandchildren and son sister, Miss Lizzie Harllee, aged 84 years, Florence, S. C., and other relatives.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Harllee, 617 West Park avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery. Sutherland-McCammon had charge of funeral arrangements.

REPAIRED BREAKS IN LEVEES HELD UP IN RECENT FLOOD

Breaks in District 11 levees several months ago have been repaired and this week's high water in Chambers creek did not cause any damage, it was stated Thursday.

Breaks in Levee District No. 10, northwest of District 11, and west of Highway 75, in the northern part of the county near Rice, are being repaired. It was reported, however, that considerable crop damage was occasioned when the water from the creek inundated a considerable acreage.

Work is going forward in District 10 and it is expected the necessary repairs will be completed before the winter and spring rainy season is encountered.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

CORBET, Sept. 12.—Natural

curves in our flagstone walks and drives make them much more attractive, as they do not have the harshness, as in a straight line explained Miss Ruth McNabb, county home demonstration agent, to a group of ten of the Corbet Home Demonstration Club ladies at the church here September 10 at 2 p. m.

"In preparing our walk site," continued Miss McNabb, "we should level a pit about 3 or 4 inches below the surface of the ground, place sand in pit and lay our rock, fitting together as to best advantage. Then soak ground with water so as to make walk more level. Always have rocks level with surface, thereby preventing accident. Mortar or grass, as preferred, can be used between flagstones."

Mrs. T. C. Baggett was elected our new wardrobe demonstrator at the meeting.

There being no other business meeting adjourned. All members of the club are urged to attend our next meeting on September 24 as at that time plans will be completed concerning our achievement event, which will be on October 8.

COUNTY DEPOSITORY BOND WAS ORDERED REDUCED THURSDAY

SPECIAL SESSION OF COUNTY
COMMISSIONERS TAKE AC-TION ACCORDING TO LAW

The Navarro county commissioners' court Thursday in special session authorized C. E. McWilliams, county judge, to execute a release on bonds aggregating $136,500 on the county depository bond of the First National Bank of Corsicana, Texas, county depository, leaving a bond of $170,500. This was in line with an agreement made earlier in the year for the releasing of certain bonds as security when the county funds did not require the large amount. The court is allowed to increase or decrease bonds as conditions require, it was stated, and the decreased amount of bonds was regarded as ample and sufficient.

The bond of D. M. Lawrence, recently appointed constable of precinct 4, Dawson, in the sum of $1,000 was approved by the court. A letter was read from relief officials, asking the commissioners to provide work for unemployed relief clients on the roads in Navarro county until the WPA projects get under way. No action was taken on the request.

It was announced there are now 19,000 pounds of prunes on cold storage here and there will be 6,300 sacks of relief flour to be hauled from Dallas to Corsicana. The commissioners' will haul the flour to Corsicana, it was stated.

ROBERT CARADINE, NEGRO BURGLAR IS GIVEN 495 YEARS

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 12.—(Spl.)—Ninety-nine years in the penitentiary in each of five cases was the staggering sentence meted out Wednesday morning in the 40th District Court to Robert Caradine, youthful negro house burglar, who had entered a plea of guilty to the charges. Other cases against the prowler probably will be dropped according to the district attorney.

Caradine was prosecuted for entering the homes of C. C. Blocker, Y. C. Carlisle, W. D. Coleman, and Rush Hickman, all of Waxahachie, and Dr. Carlisle of Italy. The crimes were committed during June and July of this year. Most of the jewelry taken was recovered by Deputy Sheriff J. L. Cariker, who with Deputy Bill Rogers arrested Caradine in Waco.

When the judge pronounced the sentence, the dapper young negro was profuse in his thanks to the court, and accepted the sentence without appeal. The five sentences will run concurrently, and Caradine will receive credit for the time he has served in the jail while awaiting trial, thus making it possible to be freed from the penitentiary in ninety-eight years and ten months. Caradine is charged in five cases of burglary and theft in Navarro county, but disposition to be made of the cases is unknown. The negro is reported to have admitted about thirty burglaries in Corsicana, and more than 100 in this section of the state this year.

Residence Bought As an Investment

The large residence on the corner of West Fifth avenue and North Eighteenth street, owned by Mrs. M. B. Cary was announced today to have been sold to Mrs. Lillie Foust for $2,750 cash. The deal was handled through Cal E. Kerr, realtor. Mrs. Foust was reported to have bought the residence as an investment, and will do considerable redecoration and renovating before October 1.

C. L. Knox, assistant criminal district attorney, went to Dallas Thursday morning.

D. M. Lawrence, Dawson constable, was a Corsicana visitor Wednesday afternoon.

MORE INFORMATION CONCERNING BAZETTE COMMUNITY FAIR

BAZETTE, Sept. 11.—(Spl.)—Through an oversight the contribution of $1.00 by Mr. Art McClung, county commissioner, was not published. We are glad to correct the error.

Also, there will be a contest in the evening program in quarter singing prize—candy contributed by Mr. Thompson, candy salesman. Singers from everywhere are cordially invited.

The parade will start at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Entries for agriculture, sewing, cooking, etc., must be in no later than 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and the fair committee will appreciate everyone who can do so getting their exhibits in early Friday afternoon, so they can be arranged and a last minute rush avoided. They will be taken care of overnight, and ladies will be at the schoolhouse to assist you in arranging your exhibits.
